Max Markle, Sophomore

Mike Frankhouser, Junior

In January, 1967, Eastsiders awoke to the news of the deaths of two fellow students. Mike Fankhouser, E.H.S. junior and his companion Max Markle E.H.S. sophomore, were killed in an automobile accident. The sophomore and junior classes of E.H.S., in co-operation with the EASTERNER staff, dedicate this page to their memory.

Guiding the Seniors to the conclusion of their high school days and making the year a memorable one are the Senior Class officers: Secretary--Mary Lu Collins; Treasurer --Judy Lothamer; Vice Pres.--Jack Ridge; Pres.--Tom Stemen.

Absorbing an interesting panel presentation on the play "Taming of the Shrew" are members of the afternoon English 12 class. Members of the upperclassmen proceeded to visit the Ft. Wayne Civic Theater in the evening.

"All Aboard for the Civic Theater!" Riding the school bus and talking of the coming attraction were culture-minded and grade-monger seniors. On the jaunt home the play was relived in amazement and wonder.

'67 SENIORS PRESENT:
Class Colors--Red and White
Class Flower--Red Rose
Class Motto--Learning to live by living to learn

WE WILL REMEMBER

Try to remember with each new September the high school years we've shared together;

Try to remember the kind of September when life is unfurled a whole year better;

Try to remember that special September that opened the door to our Senior endeavor;

Try to remember and if you remember, then follow . . .

Try to remember when life was so tender that every hope was sure to billow;

Try to remember the green and white splendor, the spirits high, that "flaming fellow";

Try to remember wisdoms warm ember that touched our souls to fill the hollow;

Try to remember and if you remember, then follow . . .

We will remember with each new September these years we've grown and learned together;

We will remember that every September can mean the start of a new forever;

Life lies before us and God watches o'er us, let's live by this chorus which ceases never;

"We will remember but more than remember, we'll follow . . . follow . . . follow . . . "

To the surprise of the class, Jackie Lorentzen and Jeff Myers presented themselves as court jesters to the Queen of England.

To help the Senior Class before they attended "The Taming of the Shrew," these helpful classmates gave some enjoyable excerpts of the play.

To add to the excitement of the Shakespearean Project, eight seniors gave an amazing demonstration of a May Day Dance.

Upon exit from the Civic Theater Rachel Kaiser and Diana Arnett gave these candid reactions.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Kent Myers

Mr. Joe Smith

ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Charles Hampel

Heading the student body of Eastside High School this year was Mr. Kent Myers, principal. With the close of the 1966-67 school year, Mr. Myers ends his fourth year as principal of Eastside's six hundred students, having been principal since the consolidation began.

For the first time this year, Mr. Joe Smith came to Eastside as assistant principal, having been principal of Riverdale for many years. Together with Mr. Charles Hampel, new principal at Riverdale, Mr. Smith has co-ordinated the junior high programs at Butler and Riverdale.

ADMINISTRATION

Superintendent Kenneth Cole

Finishing his first full year as the Superintendent of the DeKalb Eastern Schools, Mr. Kenneth Cole has won the respect and admiration of the several thousand persons involved in the district schools. His close association with the students, teachers, and administrators of the district has allowed him to become a familiar part of everyday life. Working in close co-operation with the School Board, Superintendent Cole guides the educational system of the Eastern DeKalb District.

The School Board of DeKalb County Eastern Community Schools under the leadership of President Delbert Washler considered and devoted much time to the planning and organizing of the new Eastside High School. The Board meets in regular session in Superintendent Cole's office in the Butler Elementary. Within the guidelines set by this capable group of men, the schools of the district operate.

Our Helping Hands Are Busy Hands

Mrs. Carolyn Hoffer

Mrs. Nancy Roush

Secretary to Mr. Myers, Mrs. Hoffer handles all junior high and high school office affairs and school finances. She had the assistance of Mrs. Roush who also served mornings as study hall supervisor.

Mrs. Jeanette Kaiser

"All's Quiet On the Home Front" was the slogan of Mrs. Kaiser, who took charge of the afternoon study halls. All pictured on this page were aided by able student assistants.

Mrs. Loretta Musser

Mrs. Virginia Laux

Mrs. Ruth Ann McNabb

Working as secretaries to DeKalb Eastern School's Superintendent Cole, Mrs. Laux and Mrs. McNabb shared the responsibilities of the entire school district.

ACADEMICS

It Is Only the Ignorant Who Despise Education . . .

Syrus

Miss Griffith, Flame librarian, took it upon herself to periodically place displays in the library in conjunction with holidays, seasons, items in the news, and school activities. Student awareness was improved and Study Hall was brightened by the unusual affairs. Miss Griffith also ordered a pile of new books and guided charges to the captivating stimulants.

To relieve an over-crowded Study Hall, students were dispersed to an unused room. Mrs. Nancy Roush and Mrs. Jeanette Kaiser were in charge of morning and afternoon sessions of The Hall. Due to her hospitalization, however, the eager faces of an anticipating charges missed the familiar and likeable Mrs. Kaiser.

Vocations: for Just Experience Tells . . . Goldsmith

Mr. Guinther instructs the Agriculture classes to prepare them for their future years in farming. The Ag. shop offers the students an experience with machinery and places a responsibility on them. Under the supervision of Mr. Guinther, the judging teams have gained experience while completing in judging contest.

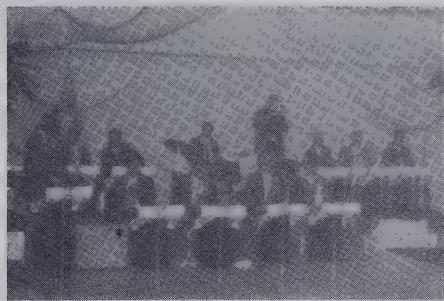

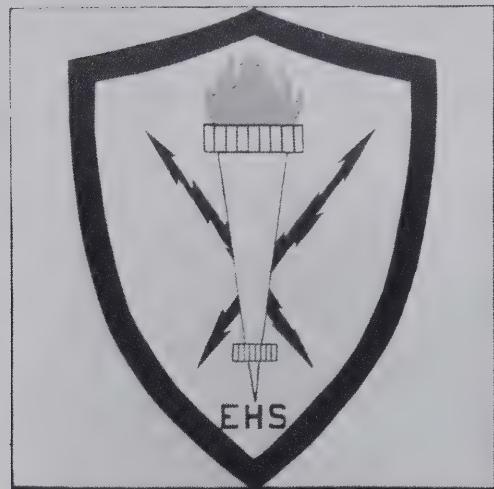

Dennis Hart, Dennis Pugh and Emerson Casebere, shop students, work creatively in making their various articles, under the supervision of Mr. Smith.

Mrs. Roweltt and Mrs. Rufner help the home economics classes to further their information about homemaking. The S.H.A. Festival revealed the articles made by the various students of the classes.

A Real Look

at Eastside

Of All the Creations of Man Language Is the Most Astonishing . . .

Strachey

"Parley vous francais?" Mr. Sherer teaches French classes through the audio-lingual method. Repetition and memorization played a major part in the learning process.

Mrs. Posey created interest within her classes by distributing a newspaper written entirely in Spanish, engaged a restaurant where the Spanish Club held their Banquet and ate Mexican food, and sent two language students to Mexico for six weeks. The Spanish Club visited Ball State during which they watched a ballet. The pinata party opened the year with all the traditional Spanish customs flowing in to it. To finance their activities, the kids stimulated school spirit by selling class pins with the initials of Eastside.

To Show the Whole Extent of Its Beauty and Power . . .

Dryden

Every member of the Blazer student body "belongs" to an English class. By the thoughtful consideration of the instructors, material was presented to the FLAME staff for possible consideration for publication. Seniors had a broad range of plays, critical reviews, and novels to prepare for the "outside" while Juniors were comprehending poetry, quite uniquely by studying such folk songs as "Song of Silence" and "At the Zoo." Sophomores began a background of literature and the Freshman concluded grammar study.

Art Alone Enduring Stays to Us . . . Dobson

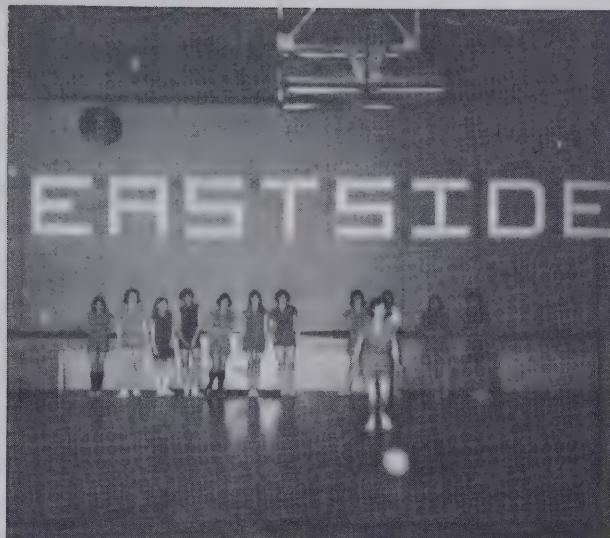

Personal satisfaction and enjoyment were found by Art, Chorus, and Band Students. Several occasions arose where the arts could be exhibited with pride. Miss Griffith placed drawings in the Study Hall, the scenery for S.H.A. and 'Bye-Bye Birdie, and the drawings in the Flame were sketched by Miss Briegel's aspiring classes. The Fosters shone through at district and state contest, the concerts and the musical. Each event and opportunity was a call to talented students to display their school spirit and individual effort for the community.

Of Energies . . . That Cannot Die . . .

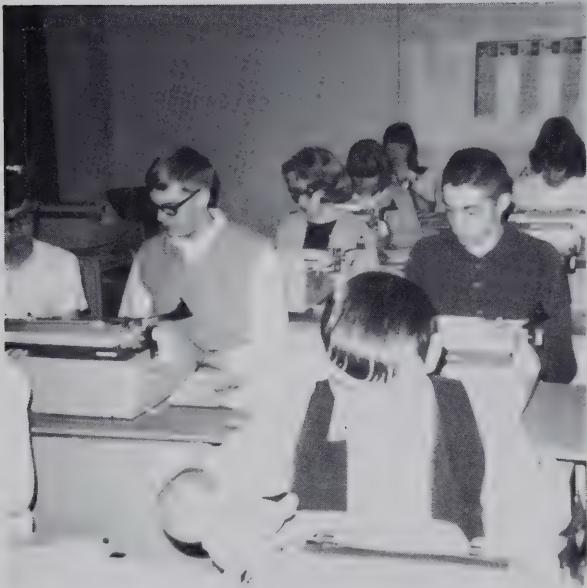

Symonds

The requirements at Eastside for Physical Education are two years, but students may take additional years if they desire. Girls Physical Education under the leadership of Mrs. Hood engage in many healthy exercises and games. Among these are volleyball, soccer, badminton, softball, tumbling and bowling. Under the supervision of Mr. Templeton, the boys Physical Education classes kept fit with many strenuous activities such as calisthenics, basketball, baseball, football, dodge ball, tumbling and bowling. All Phys. Ed. classes are kept very active throughout the year.

He Profits Best Who Serves Best . . . Sheldon (Rotary Motto)

Speed typing tests, dictaphone typing, office practice sets and many other varied courses of study are what Business students at Eastside engaged at throughout the year. Through the able hands of Mr. Sherer and Mr. Strange, the students learned the skills of typing. Mr. Hansen, who constantly prodded his students along, knows that somewhere in the back of their minds lie an usable knowledge of Bookkeeping. And through the splendid teaching of Mrs. Overmyer, girls learned how to use many different office machines.

Speech Is a Mirror of the Soul: As a Man Speaks, So Is He . . .

Syrus

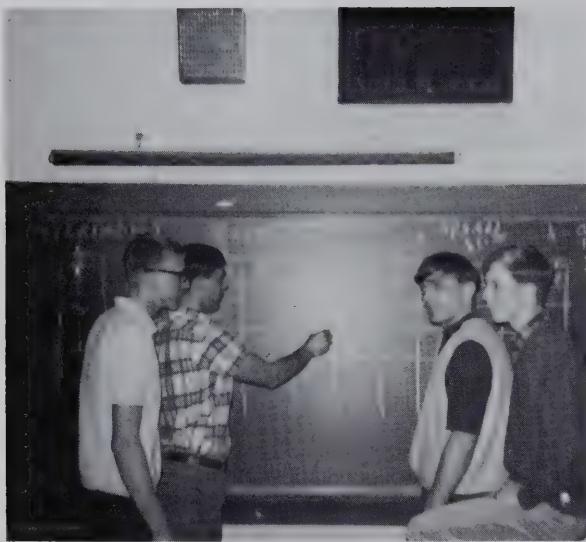

Through tongue and hand Blazers spoke out. Gaining experience through required speech contests, EHS'ers won some recognition. Lane Brown and Anne Kagey traveled to the District Rotary Speech Contest while Kathy Nebehy and Jeff Snyder placed first and second at the county Soil Conservation Contest. Kathy traveled to Manchester College for the area rivalry and tied for third.

Staff members of the newspaper journeyed to Franklin College at the beginning of the year to exchange ideas and become better informed. Experience taught them, through blunders and success, and they learned by doing.

While Bright-Eyed Science Watches Round . . .

Gray

Mr. Bracht, Mr. Conkey, Mr. Moreland and Mr. Severson are the instructors of Eastside's Science department. Physics, Chemistry, Biology and general science are the courses which these four men teach. With their guided assistance the students at Eastside learn through helpful labs and experiments the wonderful world of science. Also with their cooperation and assistance, students took active part in field trips.

Mathematics Possesses Not Only Truth but Supreme Beauty . . . Russell

Nearly all students at Eastside enroll in at least two math courses during their high school curriculum. Courses vary from General Math, with Mr. Bedwell and Mrs. Schubert, to College Algebra and Trigonometry with Mrs. Culler. These teachers instruct their students in the correct procedure in working an every day Math problem to the most difficult quadratic equation. In Mrs. Schubert's Algebra class such things as graphs, linear equations and story problems were taught. In her 4th period class, a cadet teacher graded papers and occasionally taught class to gain knowledge of what it would be like to be a math teacher.

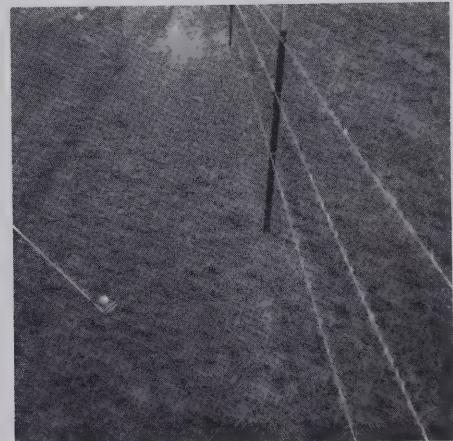

While We Read History We Make History . . . Curtis

The Social Studies courses offered at E.H.S. include U.S. History, Government, World History, and World Geography. Mrs. Adams, the teacher of U.S. History taught her students the events that formulated our American Heritage. Mr. Wilder supplemented the Government textbook by taking his Senior charges on an informative field trip to our State Capitol. World Geography and World History, taught by Mr. Hollingsworth complete Eastside's curriculum in the field of Social Studies.

Bjarke Hits

This year Eastside has had the experience of having a blue-eyed blonde foreign exchange student. His name is Bjarke Langkjaer and he was from Aalborg, Denmark, but now resides in Frederikshavn, Denmark. He was a part of the International Christian Youth Exchange Program and was sponsored by the First E.U.B. Church of Butler. In this program a host family is selected for each student, and Bjarke was staying at Mr. & Mrs. Walter M. Smith's home. This year he was a member of the Senior Class of 1967 and took active part in all student activities. Bjarke said he enjoyed his stay very much and would like to thank all who made his stay such an enjoyable experience. In Danish Schools they have no extra-curricular activities so he especially liked this part of school. He mainly liked the basketball games and as a result of it, many times couldn't speak the next morning. When Bjarke returned to Denmark, he started college to become a teacher. "If you would start paying your teachers better I just might come back and teach."

Organization? ? ? ?

Our Energetic and Able Class Leaders

Forward ever in the quest of their goals, the Junior Class united in strength and spirit to reach an all time height under the guidance of President Sandy Miller. Magazine sales in the fall totaling $5200 broke all existing school records. A car wash, a bake sale and two paper drives were enthusiastically undertaken to raise extra funds for the highlight of the year, the Junior-Senior Prom. A great profit was reaped from concessions at Football and Basketball games. The Prom Committee ran smoothly handling the numerous arrangements connected with the Prom under the able leadership of Vice-President Janet Sebert. Handling finances, recording meeting proceedings and miscellaneous items was Secretary-Treasurer Donna Guy.

Under the guidance of Sophomore Class President, Vernon Lake, the tenth graders showed their forceful backing by winning first place in the Tourney Spirit Sign Contest. Second in Command this year is Ted Miller. Also prominent in this year's activities was a class party. Recording events was Secretary Lana Mast. Handling funds was Treasurer Darla Vachon.

Eagerly anticipating the friendship of scores of future classmates, the freshmen found their way into Blazer Society. Led by their President Van Miller and their Vice President, Jill Dielman, they were acquainted with traditions and patterns which will occur throughout their secondary school years. Recording their activities and watching class finances was Secretary-Treasurer, Kathy Hudson.

Junior High Football and Track Teams

A few of the activities of the Junior High School include: Football, Track, and Band. Events, such as these three, help to build character and stamina in Eastside's Junior High. Under the leadership of Coach Hollingsworth, the football and track teams practiced energetically preparing themselves for the hard season facing them. The Junior High Band, under the direction of Mr. Foster, learns the basic fundamentals of music.

The Future Farmers of America, more commonly known as the F.F.A., is a group of energetic young men who wish to further their knowledge of agriculture. During the past few years at E.H.S., the F.F.A. has had the distinction of having the largest voluntary participation of any organization within the school. The members of the F.F.A. try to live by their motto which is "Learning to do, Doing to learn, Earning to live, Living to serve." The organization operates under the principal of majority rules. All activities of the club are carried out only after the members have voiced their opinions on the subject and have voted. Some of these activities are Livestock Judging, Dairy Judging, Parliamentary Procedure Contest, Woodcutting, and many others including working on the F.F.A. farm, home of their experience.

A Song Is More

The Eastside

This year the Eastside High School Band tooted a different note with the arrival of their new director, Richard Foster. During the marching season the Band engaged in Football half-time shows and various parades. Now that Concert Season has begun, Mr. Foster is diligently preparing the band for their Spring Concert and State Band Contest.

Added attractions to the E.H.S. Band this year are majorettes Chris Hicov and Debbie Warstler.

Easterner 1967

The 1966-67 basketball season brought plenty of sparkle and spirit into the halls of Eastside. Our school, caught up in the Hoosier Hysteria, backed our team in their 5-15 record.

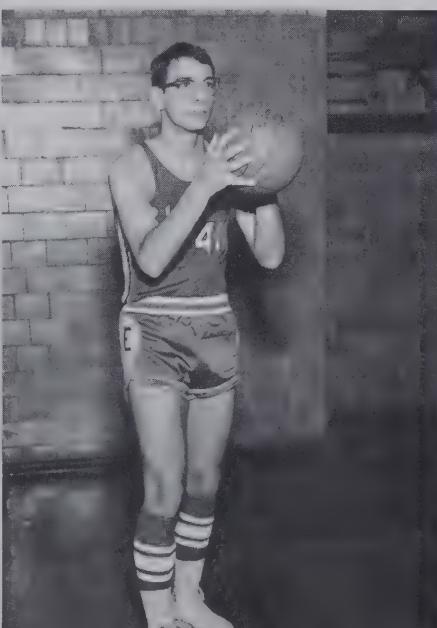

Facing some rought opponents with plenty of hard work and determination, our team gave us plenty of reasons to be proud of the Blazers.

As we bid farewell to seniors Jeff Myers, Rog Kitchen, Mike Diehlman, Denny Shrock, Jim Craig and Denny Nelson the student body looks forward to another exciting season as a new team will carry on the tradition of FIGHT!

Let's go! Big Team, Let's go! was the familiar cry heard from the new Jr. Varsity coach, Leon Strange, during the basketball season. This year's season showed promising and encouraging results for future teams. Even though this was Mr. Strange's first year at Eastside, he combined his coaching ability and the team's effort into a 7 win 13 loss season.

Freshman Chalk Up a Year of Experience

The Class of "70" backed their team the entire season and should be proud of the team's spirited efforts. With the leadership of Coach Hollingsworth, the team fought vigorously and ended the season with an exciting victory over Prairie Heights. This year's freshmen had the unusual experience of participating in the B-Team Tourney and represented our school well.

ACTIVITIES

"Evening in Paradise" was the prevailing theme at the 67 Prom held at Potawatomi Inn, Pokagon State Park, Angola. It was the traditional dance and banquet held by the Juniors for sentimental Seniors. The highlight of the evening was the coronation of the "Hawaiian" King (Stan Miller) and Queen (Jan Sebert).

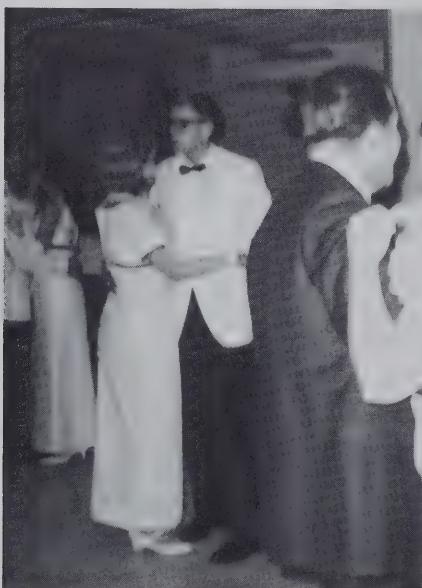

Beautifully decorated with life-like palm trees and pineapples the room was strewn with fish net of various hues and Polynesian gods' heads. The patio, lit by torches and overlooking the lake while moonbeams and stars shone, also accented the theme.

"Have you heard?"

"You clod, get your foot off my dress!"

"Your turn is next, Diana!"

"Psst, Stan, your crown's crooked."

OTHER AFFAIRS

Although the formal dance dominated The Night, the Jaycees sponsored a rock'n'roll hop in the early morning. It gave the kids a chance to "let their hair down" and kick off their shoes. Interested parents cooked a steaming breakfast for hungry prom-goers before the dawn broke and they went their own ways.

Formal dancing continues the mood.

Light dancing and a hot breakfast dissolve into an early morning. "All now that is left is majestic memory."--Longfellow

A NOTE FROM THE EDITORS

The Easterner of 1967 in its fourth year at Eastside is now completed. We would like to say it has been a challenging job to try and show the community, the school life at Eastside. We came across many problems and difficulties, but with the help of a great staff we managed to keep going.

This yearbook could not have been produced without the help of many people who were willing to give both time and work in order to produce it. We would like to thank Mr. Murphy, our devoted advisor, who spent many hours being patient and helpful. Our Principal, Mr. Kent Myers and all the teachers for their assistance and cooperation. To the businessmen of the surrounding communities who have helped to support the Easterner. And last but not least to our loyal and faithful staff who continually kept the book running.

In ending, as we have said before, it has been an enjoyable experience for us, and we hope your enjoyment will be complete through the years as it brings back memories to you of the 1966-67 school year.
